FROM MONTANA.

From the Post of the 26th ult. we get the subjoined:

We had the pleasure of a visit from Colonel N. P. Wood, who is now busy with plans, designs and actual work upon the great Dacotah Lode at Bannack. His claim (No. 1) is really well developed, and his machinery will prove, in some of the very quartz to be operated upon, will contain a large fortune to the fortunate possessor of this wonderfully rich mining property. In the silver colored ore, the gold shines like small diamond points. At the depth of eighty feet, the crevice is eight feet wide, certainly, and how much more will be demonstrated when the other wall rock is reached. Twelve feet is calculated upon. Upon the apparatus to be employed is, first, a Bullock's Crusher, with vertical jaws, which cracks the quartz into small lumps, it is then finished off by passing under vertical crushing wheels, running like a flax break, in a circular pan which revolves at half the speed of the wheel causing a dragging and grinding motion, which reduces the quartz to an impalpable powder. The bed is supported on regulating springs, which adjust and equalize the pressure. If a steel hammer were thrown in it would be ground up in a few minutes, without injury to the machinery. For desulphurizing, the pulp is placed in a tub which has a lateral motion. A vertical steam pipe throws out jets of hot steam into the mass treated with diluted sulphuric acid, and with such effect that the sulphur rises in flour to the top. By means of a small chamber, the required sulphuric acid can be made from this very sulphur. There is then no difficulty in amalgamating. The Dacotah was our first worked lode and we are glad to say that it has proved rich on every claim. It was discovered by accident. A man sliding timber down hill, the log tore up some quartz, which led to the discovery of the lode.

The Helena Radiator of the 28th, contains the following:

M. Ed. Macias of the house of J. J. Roe & Co., arrived in this city from Fort Benton on Thursday evening and reports the arrival of three boats—the Deer Lodge, St. Johns and Cora—at the latter named place. The Deer Lodge, which was the first to arrive, made the trip in fifty eight days from St. Louis, a portion of which time she was obliged to lay up on account of the ice and high winds. The St. Johns started much later and made the trip in quicker time. She passed sixteen boats bound for this Territory during the trip. The river was in excellent boating condition. Mr. M. came up on the Deer Lodge from St. Louis. The number of boats coming up the river is not so great as was reported some time ago. Many that were advertised to start did not come, owing to a failure in getting cargoes. The number will not exceed twenty five or thirty. He made the trip from Benton to this place in company with another person, and saw no Indians on the route.

A gentleman from Indian Creek states that a nugget was picked up in the upper end of that gulch during the week which weighed $87, and that, as the gulch continues to be developed the prospects are such as to indicate great wealth and prosperity for the coming season.

While three men were rafting logs in Big Blackfoot, near Missoula mills the raft broke and they were plunged in the stream. Two of them succeeded in making their escape to the shore, but the other named Bart Whittier, was drowned.

FROM IDAHO.

A correspondent of the Idaho Statesman at Rocky Bar writes:

We are now pretty well supplied with mail facilities, and the weekly arrival of the United States Mail and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, are quite an improvement on last winter, when the assembled wisdom of Idaho had nearly completed their labors before we were assured that the Solons from Alturas had not perished in the snow storms before reaching the scene of their labors. Speaking of their labors reminds me that the proposed amendment to the Organic Acts of the Territories create quite a stir here, as several of our citizens are rich in franchise, on which they have expended nothing but the labor of procuring them by the Legislature. It would be an act of injustice to take away a franchise upon which men have spent a large amount of money opening a road, building a bridge or establishing a ferry. The last Legislature overdid the franchise business worse than the dealers in "wild cat" have the quartz business in New York, and the holders of stock in the Great Consolidated Golden City, Silver Mountain and Lost Cabin Telegraph Company, the capital stock of which was to command a premium in New York, as well as the Toll road from Utopia to No Man's Land with the Ferry across Dry River, will find their riches vanishing like a misty dream, and they ever after be the victims of "Congressional tyranny." And by the way, the last Legislature granted a charter, (principally to its own members,) for a road to the Yuba District, which they now wish to sell. Several mills are awaiting the completion of the road, and the citizens of the Yuba, and others interested in the camp, would complete the road if they could make it free, but they hardly relish the idea of building the road and then be compelled to pay toll for passing over it.

THE MILLS

The only mill now running in camp is the Idaho, which seems to be irrepressible and not afflicted with the ills which render many others dormant. A serious accident occurred in the Idaho mine a few days since by which two men were seriously injured. One of them, Mr. John Karish, one of our best citizens, having a leg broke and getting otherwise injured. He is, however, fast recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. Stuart.

The Harris and Benson mills are getting ready for a start, and with their new machinery and improved facilities for getting out ore, they will doubtless meet with success. Several mills and ledges are in litigation, and will not do anything until the District Court sits, which is an event impatiently waited for, as business is much retarded in consequence of large amounts of property being locked up in law suits. The District Clerk informed me that there are now some seventy-five cases on the docket, for amounts all the way up to fifty thousand dollars. This is a country of "great expectations," and a man may as well sue for a large amount as a small one, where all are millionaires in prospect.

Great Advance in Wheat.—In the produce trade the great topic of conversation at the present time, is the sudden and unlooked for advance in spring wheat, which has appreciated in value beyond the hopes of the most sanguine of the "longs," and the prices now being realized are such as the most knowing speculator on the Board never for a moment dreamed of. On Saturday the market for No. 1 spring wheat in the regular houses closed steady at $1,57, and at sundown last evening, the same article sold for $1,73½, an advance of 16½ cents in forty-eight hours. No. 2 spring in North Side houses, which on Saturday sold at $1,12@$1,13, realized $1,30 last evening—an appreciation of 17@18 cents within the same time. The demand is largely speculative, occasioned to a great extent by the influx of Indiana and Ohio operators, who being possessed of large capital, are able "to swing" a vast amount of grain and manipulate it to any extent they may see necessary. Heretofore this delegation has been quite successful both here and in Milwaukee.

Notwithstanding this speculative demand is so great, the unlooked for advance in prices is partially occasioned by the great and unusual milling demand from the South and Southeast. Large quantities of grain are daily shipped to points in Southern Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and some parcels have also been taken for Baltimore account. When this "bulge" will stop, no man knoweth.—Chicago Tribune.

Generals McNeil and Blair.—The United States Senate rejects the nomination of General Blair to the Revenue Collectorship in this city, and forthwith and continuously the Copperheads and rebels raise a howl of virtuous indignation at the ingratitude of this treatment of a gallant soldier of the war. Here is the way the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial sees it:

"Now, setting aside all partisan matters, and looking the facts squarely in the face, how could the Senate confirm Blair, an avowed conservative, while the President peevishly refuses to commission General John McNeil as Surveyor of the Port, notwithstanding he was duly appointed and confirmed as such by the Senate. The McNeil and Blair antecedents are parallel. Both entered the service at the same time, though Blair went to Congress during a portion of the four years that McNeil continued in active service. McNeil served his country as ably as Blair, and gained quite as many laurels. He was fairly entitled to the office. He was a rich man at the outbreak of the war, and a poor one when the war closed. He had the support of the Missouri delegation, and was appointed by the President. He was fairly confirmed, and yet has never received his commission from Washington, and it has been ascertained it is withheld by direct order from the President. If there is any surplus wind wasted upon the Blair case, it will be well to take a candid view of the McNeil case at the same time."—St. Louis Democrat.

The London Athenæum states that the second volume of Napoleon's Life of Julius Cæsar will shortly appear. It will be devoted to the history of Cæsar's wars in Gaul, which is understood to have been for many years a favorite subject with the Emperor, and it will be rendered more valuable by the extensive excavations and explorations of all kinds which have been made on the sites of Cæsar's exploits by the order of the Emperor. The latter is said to have paid great personal attention to this volume in its progress through the press, which accounted for the delay in its publication. It will be illustrated with numerous maps and plans.

The President has instructed the military court now trying Major Gen. not to pass sentence in his case, but to send the full record of the proceedings in the trial, when it shall be concluded, to Washington, to enable the government to act understandingly in the whole matter.

Terms of Reconstruction.

The Daily News is in want of information, and very properly applies to the Tribune. Quoting that clause of the Federal Constitution which prescribes that "Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members," it asks,—

> Does the Tribune mean to say that this clause gives to the two Houses of Congress any power to declare, by concurrent resolution, that neither House shall, without the consent of the other, "be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members?" and does not the Tribune know that that is exactly what the two Houses of Congress have done, under the dictation of Mr. Thad. Stevens and his Central Directory?"

Answer.—No, sir! we presume it entirely within the "power" of either House, regardless of the other, to day to admit representatives of the seceded States to seats on its floor. Yet the matter is so grave, so novel, so complicated, and involves such far reaching consequences, that it seems eminently proper that the two Houses should consult, confer, compare notes, and co-operate in their action upon it. They are mutually affected by whatever either may do in the premises, and do well to act accordingly. And this, under the "dictation" referred to, they have wisely agreed to do. The News asks further,—

> Does the Tribune pretend that a clause which gives to each House the power to decide upon the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, gives to the two Houses of Congress the power, against the entreaties and protest of the President, to disrupt the Union and to expel from the Confederation of States eleven of its co-equal members?"

Answer.—The loyal men now in the ascendant in Congress did not "disrupt the Union." You did that, Messrs. Rebels! so far as it has been done at all. They did not expel eleven States (more or less). You tore them out of the Union, so far as you could do it, impelling the Representatives in Congress to abandon their seats with an imposing parade of contempt and defiance for the Union, and the most theatrical protestations that their States would never, never return to the Union, nor send Representatives to its Capitol. Yet now, after four years of bloody, desolating war to destroy the Union, you fume and rave and threaten, because one year has not sufficed to get your representatives back into the seats they so ostentatiously spurned? Your hot haste is indecent—discreditable! The News continues,

> "The Tribune knows very well that no Southern Senator or Representative is excluded from his seat, because of any fault to be found with his 'election, return or qualification;' but because it is the theory of the revolutionists that the State whose representative he claims to be is not in the Union, and therefore not entitled to representation."

Remark.—No, sir! we do not know this. Members of Congress should be elected by loyal, Union-loving citizens, which most of those seeking admission to seats were not. One "qualification" required by law of members is a right hand unreddened by the blood of loyal men fighting to uphold the Union; and most of your pretenders lack this. But, beyond and above all this, it is indispensable that that portion of the of the Southern States who never the Union, and never were traitors have a voice and a vote in choosing the who are to represent those eleven State gress. Let the Southern loyalists their right to a voice in the Govern taxes, rules and judges them,—and we ery other requirement. But we will not can, allow that the late rebels of the be represented in Congress to the their steadfastly loyal neighbors; that white rebels in South Carolina (for exam have equal weight in our common C with 000,000 white Unionists in Maine that the Southern blacks shall be kept and their white neighbors enabled to in their stead, though not in their is a most arrogant presumption this shall be conceded. We are five millions of ex-rebels shall have man for man, with the loyal people, North South,—but no more. If they disdain insist on counting themselves two to o will have to wait a while before th Congress at all.—N. Y. Tribune.

Relics of Nelson.—One of the and interesting relics of Nelson the possession of a gentleman in Surrey. The same consists of pyramid, composed of the which were found in the Adm when he so gloriously fell, in the at the battle of Trafalgar, on the 1805. After Nelson's death, these the hands of Alexander Davison, of Square, the intimate friend and navy Nile, and who, as a mark of lasting gallant friend, caused this pyramid structed out of the coin, in a quadr each side containing the complement cas. Upon the occasion of Mr. Dav ing involved some years afterwards, under consideration was, among other forming a portion of that unfortunate estate, sold under the hammer, by the auctioneers of the day, the Messrs. Fairbro and the pyramid adverted to was at that purchased at the sale by a relative of its possessor. With it are four large volumes, elegantly bound in purple morocco, containing the whole of Nelson's original dispatches. Those important missals were primitively stereotyped upon vellum by "Bensley," especially for the service of Mr. Davison. The only copy of this work was in the possession of the late eminent collector of antiquities, Mr. Beckford, of Fonthill Abbey, and is now, we believe, in the British Museum.—Waterford (Ireland) Mail.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 15, 1866.

Prospects of the Season.

The present season is one of the most singular that Oregon has ever witnessed. Last winter much more than the usual amount of rain fell in the districts west of the Cascade mountains, and now the pluvial season is running far into the summer. But this rain fall has brought its advantages. From all parts of the State we hear that the prospects for large crops are unusually promising. The almost continual rains during the spring, have caused a remarkably exuberant growth of vegetation, and it is asserted that the crops of hay and spring grains never before promised so well. There seems to be some apprehension lest the continuance of the rains so far beyond the usual season, may operate deleteriously on wheat sown last fall, causing a too luxuriant growth of stalk, and preventing the formation of the grain. But as it is not likely that these showers will continue much longer, there is probably little reason to anticipate any injury to crops resulting from them. So far, at least, they have done infinite good and no harm, except to keep our roads in a rather bad condition.

We think it may be safely calculated that Oregon will produce more grain and hay this year than in any former season. Breadstuffs now rule at a low figure in our markets; hence it cannot be expected that after the harvest is gathered in, grain will command a very large price. This season is a fruitful one for California, as well as for Oregon; and therefore our principal market for flour will be the northern mines. And in our calculations on this subject we must not forget that more grain will be grown this season in the fertile valleys of the upper Columbia and its tributaries than formerly, and that as the farmers there are much nearer the market than we, they will have advantages which those of this valley do not possess. By converting their surplus grain into beef and bacon, our farmers can, however, derive a fair profit from their labor. The time has never been in Oregon, when in the course of the year, these commodities could not be turned into cash at very remunerative rates.

The fruit crop of this year will not be so large as it was last, but we shall have as much as will be of any great profit to the country.

The Plan of Reconstruction.

Simonton of the Bulletin, though not the most reliable Union man in the world, is acknowledged to be rather sagacious in the way of finding out presently existing facts and forecasting the drift of things. In a recent letter to the Bulletin he says that the following plan of reconstruction will be eventually agreed on by the present Congress if any agreement at all can be reached:

1st. A Constitutional amendment making voting population the basis of representation.

2d. An amendment, embodying the principle of the Civil Rights bill, for, while we may doubt the constitutionality of that measure as an act of Federal legislation, there can be no doubt as to the abstract justice of its principle, or of the propriety of incorporating said principle in the Constitution, if the States will consent thereto.

3d. An amendment prohibiting the assumption or payment of the rebel war debt, and, perhaps, prohibiting any repudiation of the National debt.

4th. Providing that whenever any Southern State shall have adopted the aforesaid amendments, her "duly qualified" Senators and Representatives shall be admitted at once to Congress.

This differs with the plan reported by the committee in two or three particulars: 1st, In not disfranchising voluntary rebels till July 4th, 1870; 2d, It substitutes a constitutional provision, securing to all men, equal and exact justice, for a legislative enactment of the same purport; 3d, It restores the States as rapidly as they individually give the required guarantees against future rebellion. These are about the only essential modifications which will be made in the committee's plan—if Mr. Simonton is a prophet.

It is pretty clear that the committee's plan will not be adopted without some modifications. It is equally clear that some plan ought to be adopted, if possible, during this session. We are, however, not in such haste, nor do we believe that the great Union masses are in such haste for the settlement of the questions involved in restoration as to rush on to the end, overleaping the matter of safety and throwing away the fruits of the victory gained by arms. Let the question remain open until an adjustment can be obtained, which shall at once secure the Government against future jeopardy and to the States and their citizens, their just rights. The work of restoring the Union on a just, fair and permanent basis, should not be hurried by the zeal of the Union's friends or the clamor of its enemies to the extent of inflicting upon our posterity a piece of mere patchwork. Time, and ample time may be taken with perfect safety, to consider the matter in every one of its bearings. Whenever the question has been solved as to what can be done and what ought to be done, then will be the time to act and to act quickly. The people of the United States will justify so much deliberation and nothing less or nothing more.

If Congress can devise a way out of the present difficulties during the present session, it ought to do it—if it cannot, the real friends of the Union will be patient somewhat longer. Whether its enemies are patient or otherwise is not a contingency upon which the question of restoration should turn. The Union was destroyed so far as the rebels and copperheads could accomplish it, and it was not saved by their efforts. They are the parties now to ask and not to demand. Having striven for years to get out of the Union they cannot justly deem it a political hardship if they are not restored to the privileges conferred by the Union, till the government shall be reasonably secured against repetitions of the trouble they have made.

But for the sake of the people of the South who were true to the Union or only involuntary rebels, and for the sake of the Union party itself, Congress should terminate the suspense of delay, by the earliest possible restoration of the Southern States compatible with security and a just repaid for the relations of government and people.

The Fenian Farce.

A more hopelessly foolish enterprise than the Fenian "invasion" of Canada, has never been attempted in America. The scheme has failed already, as everybody saw that it must certainly fail at last. Had the movement been undertaken by the whole Fenian force with the full acquiescence of the United States, it would have been extremely hazardous, and would eventually have been defeated by the power of Great Britain. But when it is considered that the invasion was a violation of our laws, and that our Government is bound by every motive of good faith to prevent such irruptions from its own territory upon that of a friendly neighbor, it will be understood how insane a project it was to attempt with a handful of men, without military stores and without a hope for reinforcements, what fifty thousand experienced troops, abundantly supplied with munitions of war, would find it difficult to accomplish. It has become very evident that the plan of "invasion" which has terminated so farcically, was designed by crafty men to "fire the Fenian heart," and to fill again the coffers of a depleted treasury.

COWLITZ COUNTY, W. T.—The Union ticket in Cowlitz county was elected with the exception of the Treasurer and Auditor. The vote for Assessor was a tie. Huntington, Union, is elected joint Representative for Cowlitz and Wahkiakum, by nine majority.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 9.

Treasure and Exports—The Bombardment of Valparaiso

NEW YORK, June 9.—The steamer New York, from Aspinwall, brings the California mails of May 19th, and $960 000 in treasure.

The news from the south Pacific is uninteresting.

The total shipment of specie to Europe during the week, from this port, was $1,520 756, and from Boston, $1,022 607. The total specie export from the port since January 1st, $47,057,174. The total value of exports exclusive of specie, was $98,144,451. The total value of imports of dry goods and general merchandise, was $148,638 721.

The latest European advices say that the bombardment of Valparaiso was generally denounced, and that petitions were circulating among the merchants who suffered by the bombardment praying the French Government to hold Spain responsible for the losses, and that an international commission be appointed to settle the claims. The French Trans Atlantic Steam Navigation Company demand £20,000 indemnity of Austria, for breach of contract for the shipment of volunteers to Mexico.

Habeas Corpus Suspended in Canada—Trial of Fenians.

OTTAWA C. W. June 9.—The Canadian Parliament unanimously passed the bill suspending the writ of habeas corpus.

A court martial will be immediately convened to try the Fenians, and it is believed that a great many of them will be hung.

Fenians Disbanding.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Reports from all points represent the Fenian excitement to be subsiding, and many parties are being disbanded and sent home on parole with U S transportation from St. Albans, Malone, Ogdensburg or wherever else they have assembled. General Spears' invading column returned to Franklin, Vermont and St. Albans yesterday from Pigeon Hill, totally disappointed. General Meade visited Malone, N. Y., yesterday and arrived at St. Albans last evening. He feels confident that all trouble is over.

Foreign News.

FARTHER POINT, June 10.—The steamer Hibernian brings European dates to June 1st.

Consols closed at 87¼@87⅜; five twenties 60½@60¾.

Liverpool cotton market buoyant at 1@1½d higher.

Financial affairs continued to exhibit steady progress in recovery, and the gradual return of confidence. The pressure for discount at the banks was diminishing, although still very large, and the rate remained at ten per cent.

The invitations to the congress are all accepted and it will meet in Paris shortly.

Prussia, Austria and Italy are still arming. The Italian volunteers are mobilizing rapidly. Austria has mobilized 600,000 men. Prussia and Italy have postponed hostilities until the congress proves a failure.

Orders for a second conscription at Vienna had produced strong discontent.

The Austrian army commenced marching toward Venetia May 24th. Austria categorically refuses all propositions relative to the cession of Venetia; calls for a convocation of the States and of the Bund first to settle the Schleswig-Holstein question, and demands that the congress shall not be competent to discuss any project for the reform of the federal constitution. Prussia is also said to regard that the congress shall not discuss questions relating exclusively to the internal interests of Germany, and that its deliberations shall speedily prove that a real prospect exists for the preservation of peace.

The note of the French Government inviting the federal diet to send a representative of the German States, says: The object of the conference is to be the diplomatic settlement of the questions of Schleswig and Venetia, and also of federal reform so far as it affects the European equilibrium. The federal diet had resolved to accept the invitation.

The Austrian government had ordered a forced loan of 12,000,000 florins in Lombardy and Venetia.

A communication received in London, May 30th, asserts that Garribaldi was still on the island of Caprera, and he had no immediate intention of leaving.

Turkey will not occupy the Danubian principalities in consequence of the Russian and French declaration against Turkish intervention.

LIVERPOOL, June 1.—The day for the meeting of the conference has not been fixed. La Presse believes Napoleon will preside.

The Fenian Leaders Denounce the Administration.

CHICAGO, June 11—The Fenian leaders are very much dispirited at the interference of the Government and the consequent failure of their scheme, and bitterly denounce the Administration for bad faith, alleging that it had found more than half a million dollars worth of arms, knowing what use was to be made of them; that Fenians were in every way encouraged to make the attempt which our Government has suppressed.

Gen. Meade states that in all he has had reports of 40,000 stand of arms bound for the invading army. This confirms what has already been said of the magnitude of the campaign as planned, and the probabilities that but for the United States Government it would have made their invasion a serious matter.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The House spent the whole morning in discussing the Fenian question.

Mr. Ancona offered a resolution censuring England for her course during the war, thanking Irishmen for their services in the Union army, and expressing sympathy in their effort to free Ireland, and directing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to report a bill repealing the neutrality law of 1818, under which the President's proclamation was issued.

Mr. Schenck offered a resolution requesting the President to grant the Fenians the same rights that England granted rebels.

Harding, of Ill., offered an expression of sympathy with the Irish, and recommending Government to give them all the privileges possible under the laws. The proceedings were noisy and decidedly favorably to the Fenians. The whole subject was finally referred to committee on foreign affairs.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—In the Senate, Mr. Howard, of the Pacific Railroad Committee, reported a bill which provides that the Pacific Railroad with the consent and approval of the Secretary of the Interior, without reference to the hundredth degree of longitude, are hereby authorized to continue the road westward according to the best and most practicable route in a continuous and unbroken line, until they shall meet the connection with the Central Pacific Railroad, and the Central Pacific Railroad is hereby authorized to continue their road eastward according to the best and most practicable route in a continuous and unbroken line until they shall meet and connect with the Union Pacific Railroad; provided that the words "continuous and unbroken line" shall not include bridges and tunnels on the said route. The bill hereby provides that said company shall be entitled to same amount of bonds of the U. S. to aid in constructing their line and telegraph as they should have been entitled to if they had connected their said lines with the Union Pacific Railroad at the one hundredth degree of longitude. And provided further, that the said company shall connect their lines of railroad telegraph with the Union Pacific Railroad, but not at a point nearer than fifty miles westward from the meridian of Denver, Colorado.

Mr. Wilson reported on the House bill for continuing the Freedmen's Bureau, which was amended by striking out the 4th and 5th sections and inserting instead a provision for the allotment of certain lands sold for taxes, to freedmen. The land, to the amount of 6,000 acres, held in the so-called Confederate Government, shall be set apart for the education of the freedmen. The lands are to be surveyed into twenty acre lots.

In the House Mr. Rousseau offered a resolution that whereas it is a notorious fact that Jeff. Davis was leader of the late rebellion, and is guilty of treason under the laws of the United States, and whereas by proclamation the President in May, 1865, said Davis was charged with conspiracy in the assassination of President Lincoln, said proclamation has not been revoked nor annulled, therefore be it resolved as the opinion of the House of Representatives, that said Davis should be held in custody as a prisoner, and subject to trial according to law. Adopted, 105 against 40.

Mr. Williams, of Pennsylvania, from Judiciary Committee, reported a bill for the regulation of appointments and removal of officeholders.

The debate in the Senate on the bill granting special privilege to the National Telegraph Company, shows it will not pass without serious opposition.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Judge Hoffman has ordered a decree of forfeiture to be entered against 1,221 cases of claret and 41 cases of wine, seized for violation of the revenue laws.

David Lindsay, who pleaded guilty to passing counterfeit greenbacks, has been sentenced by Judge Hoffman to one year's imprisonment at hard labor in the State prison, and to pay the costs of his prosecution, some $500.

The American Consul at Acapulco, has written to Chief Burke, saying that Rosina Smith, a passenger on the steamship Golden Age, outward bound, died on shipboard, the 5th of May last, and was buried at Acapulco. She had $150 in the purser's hands, which had been given to the Consul, who desires that her relatives may be notified of her death and present their claims for the money.

The late S B Rawson, who was a few days since found dead at the Washington Lodging House, was a graduate at Waterville College, Maine, in the class of 1823. Among his classmates, were the Hon. Jas. Brooks, of the New York Express, and the Rev. Drs. Chaplin and Cummings, well known divines at the east.

Mrs Mary Tyler was yesterday pronounced insane by the Commissioners of lunacy, and committed to Stockton.

Theresa Neubert, aged 47 years, was found dead by her husband upon his return home last evening, in Virginia street. Her death was caused by apoplexy. She was a native of Bavaria.

Henry Strecliu, a German about 60 years of age, was found dead in his bed on Shipley street yesterday. He is supposed to have died from some disease of the lungs.

Late Sydney papers mention the death of Jed Wilson, the bank master of Wilson's circus, who was well known throughout this State.

ELECTION NEWS.—Since the last publication of our table of majorities for Governor, we have received the official vote of Washington and Clatsop counties. The former gives Woods 108 majority instead of 110 as we before had it, the latter gave Woods 69 majority instead of 66 as published. This makes the majority for Woods 38, as far as heard from.

THE KLAMATH LAKE VOTE.—The vote at Klamath Lake precinct was as follows: Mallory 98, Fay 2; Woods 98, Kelly 3; May 98, Lane 3; Cooke 93, Bell 8; McPherson 98, O'Meara 3. Soldiers are two-thirds, Democrats! O, yes, you can see it, easy!

STATE ITEMS

The Premier saw-mill on Depot Slough, Yaquina Bay, owned, we believe by Capt. Dodge and others, employs fifteen hands and is turning out from 7,000 to 8,000 feet of lumber per day.

Messrs Bailey & Case are building a hotel at Oysterville with the design of making it a summer resort for pleasure seekers.

Mrs John H. Kendall, a lady of advanced age, was thrown from a wagon last week, in Benton county, and seriously injured. Her recovery is thought to be doubtful.

From persons who recently arrived from the John Day country, says the Mountaineer, we learn that there is a great scarcity of men in those mines. For months back the great difficulty has been in the mines of the John Day to find laborers. Mines of untold richness in that country lie unproductive for the want of men to work them. The rule that obtains elsewhere is here reversed, and labor seeks the man. The places that furnished employment for one man last season now demand three. The recent rich discoveries on Olive Creek and the waters of the John Day, have nearly depopulated other camps in that district. The ruling rates for laborers is $5 and $6 per day, and with another season the competition for labor will be doubled, and as a consequence the rates will advance. It is expected that with another year the quartz and cinnabar interests of the country will be fully developed, and already we hear of a quartz mill about to be ordered for the Middle Fork District.

Lieutenant Henderson, lately appointed, has been ordered to San Francisco. He goes by the next steamer.

FROM IDAHO

The Statesman of the 7th notices a change of route by DuRell's Fast Freight Line.

The Fast Freight Line of B. M. DuRell & Co., has been undergoing a change of route this week. Last Monday and Tuesday the stock between this place and Farewell Bend was taken off the road, and a portion of it put on the road between here and Owyhee Ferry. The line now runs as follows: Starting from Idaho City at 4 o'clock in the morning, goes through to Owyhee Landing the same day connecting with the steamer Shoshone on the following morning. The teams of the Fast Freight Line connect at Farewell Bend with the steamer, which is now making regular tri-weekly trips. The coaches arrived here at noon yesterday from Owyhee Landing, bringing freight and passengers that were taken on board the steamer the morning before at Farewell Bend. By this arrangement the line will be able to reduce the time from Umatilla to Boise City to four and a half to five days, and the same to Ruby City. The change will be an accommodation to the public, and an advantage to the enterprising owners of the Fast Freight Line. The difficulty of getting fuel has somewhat delayed the Shoshone in commencing regular trips, but we understand that it be overcome now, so that it will run regularly hereafter.

THE CLACKAMAS RETURNS.—The clerk of Clackamas county writes that there were three or four errors in our published table of returns from that county. The following figures are the correct ones: Fay, 655; Bell, 561; Kruse, 555; Boynton, 616.

CHRONIC CROAKERS.—There is to be found in every community, no matter where, a set of fellows who do nothing in particular for themselves, but who are really fond of animadverting the acts of others. We have often felt great desire to show up a few of this class in Portland, when their complaints have reached us, concurring our actions, knowing as we do that they would not cross a street nor meet us half way on any occasion, to impart a particle of information they might possess that would be of general interest to the public. Remarking on the conduct of this class of population at Des Moines, Iowa, the local of the State Register speaks our mind as follows: "You don't like it, eh. Perhaps you don't! You say it isn't interesting, and all that. Well, sir, whatever your private opinion of the Register may be, it has helped to build up this city more than any other instrumentality of which you can make mention! Why, blow your dumb soul, and may the Lord look pitifully on the peculiarities of your narrow structure!—Don't you know that many of the most solid and prosperous business men of Des Moines, have been brought here by descriptions of the attractiveness of Central Iowa which they saw in the State Register? Don't you know, you poor cock-eyed son of a gun, that numbers of the daily and weekly State Register, containing truthful and comprehensive views of the situation out west, and have gone into every Eastern State, and have induced many men of means, and of solid personal worth, as well as of political soundness, to pull up their Eastern residences by the roots, and transfer their entire interests to Des Moines? You don't know this, eh? Don't! On the way, old critic, and learn to appreciate the value of printer's ink! Thy head is unsound, and it setteth crookedly on thy neck. Thy ways are perverse, and thy understanding, of which thou hast but a small store, can be sounded, and punched through by a half-inch plummet. Men of business, men of intelligence, men whose souls have not been drawn out of them by the capillary attraction of ignorance and small-fisted meanness, comprehend the value of a journal which describes the advantages of their homes, and stirs up the population of the East with the long pole of immigration! Let the Register drop out of existence as the exponent of local interests, and some very fat takes in business matters among our readers would'nt be worth two cents on the hundred dollars! Get out, old stick-in-the-mud, and learn sense before it shall be everlastingly to late!"

NEW RULINGS BY THE INTERNAL REVENUE COMMISSIONER.—It is hard enough to pay the present high taxes any way; but when to the actual burden is added the annoyance of new rulings and fresh interpretations of the law, the difficulty of keeping one's temper is vastly enhanced. Here is another batch of new decisions, which sets our previous ideas all afloat, and will make a material difference with tax-payers: All expenses for insurance upon property, and all actual losses in business, may be deducted from the gross incomes of the year, but losses sustained after Dec. 31st, 1865, cannot reduce the income for that year. Losses incurred in the prosecution of one kind of business may be deducted from the gains in another, but not from the portions of income derived from fixed investments, such as bonds, mortgages, rents and the like. The Assessor should also be careful not to allow the deduction of amounts claimed to have been lost in business, when, in reality they should be regarded as investments or expenditures, as when merchants expend money in farming or gardening, for recreation or adornment, rather than pecuniary profit. Persons traveling about the country as agents of manufacturers, or brokers seeking orders for goods as agents for one person or firm only, such as salaried clerks, or men hired by the month, should not be required to take licenses as commercial brokers. All parts of decision number 160 inconsistent herewith are hereby revoked.

HOW DID YOU?—The San Francisco Bulletin of late date makes the following startling announcement: "The mineral wealth of the Pacific coast is confined to no particular locality, though of course it abounds more richly in some places than in others. A great deal of this wealth has already been developed, but the undeveloped is still greater." This will be, new to most readers of San Francisco prints, if they have in any way relied upon the information of the press of that city, which has never been willing to admit that there were mines on the Pacific coast except such as were being developed in California and Nevada. If the California press would take as much pains to inform their readers of the richness and extent of mines throughout Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and British Columbia, as they do to misrepresent the "town of Portland" and "the Columbia river routes," we should see and read less concerning the stagnation of business in that State. It is extreme folly for them to plead ignorance on these subjects, and the only cause that can be assigned for the course pursued by the large mass of the people of San Francisco, and nearly if not quite all the press of California, is their extreme selfishness and their hatred of Oregon. There are a few dealers in San Francisco who have not allowed prejudices to blind them entirely and who, by a liberal spirit, have evinced their [illegible] for the routes to Montana via the most natural channel, the Columbia river, and we need not here insert evidences to prove that they have accomplished much for themselves by the course pursued.

CAPTURE OF AH HENG.—The murderer of Ah Yoey was arrested yesterday by officers Saunders and Hudson, at [illegible] on Chehalem Mountain, beyond Scholl's Ferry, and brought back to the city and lodged in jail last night. It makes but little difference whether the perpetrator of crime in this community of such magnitude as the one he is being guilty of, be white or black, civilized or barbarous he stands little chance of escape. Messrs. Saunders and Hudson have had quite an adventure on this [illegible]. The right track was found on Wednesday afternoon when a Chinese ranch wagon was seen on Alder street about to take Ah Hong's "things" out of the city. The trunks, bags, and baggage, was seized by the Police and taken to the station, after which Messrs. Saunders and [illegible] left, in the direction of the brush where it was supposed the Chinaman would be found. Their efforts were partially rewarded on finding a bed which had undoubtedly been left in the brush for the Chinaman to sleep on. This they watched until morning, but no Ah Hong appeared. Then the officers heard of him en route for the west, and after obtaining horses followed on overtaking the prisoner as above mentioned.

[illegible] COURT—E. D. SHATTUCK Judge.—June 14th, [illegible] Lownsdale, administrator, vs. Jonathan Bi[illegible], verdict for plaintiff, for the ownership of property described in the complaint, being certain real estate in the city of Portland......In the case of the State vs. Warren [illegible], indicted for larceny, the indictment was read and defendant allowed until this morning to plead. The Court appointed G. Venable Smith to defend the case......In the matter of the State vs. Louis Andrews, indicted for assault with intent to kill, the same action was had, and Leopold Wolf was appointed by the Court to defend the [illegible]......Wm. Meek vs. D. D. Dorman, judgment for [illegible] and decree for foreclosure of mortgage......S. J. [illegible] vs. A. L. Marshall and C. S. Silvers, administrators of the estate of Finice Caruthers, action for possession of certain real property in Caruthers' Addition to Portland. Verdict for plaintiff......The Grand Jury returned "not a true bill" in the following cases, and the defendants were discharged: State vs. John Douglas, Richard Brown, S. G. Dunlap, Moses S. Cradler. Sureties in each case were exonerated.

CIVIL THEOLOGY.—L. B. Vickers, who professed, when in this country to be "an angel of God," has expended about the balance of his bank deposits, we presume, in the publication of a 12 mo. book of 312 pages, a muslin bound copy of which reached us by mail from New York yesterday. The title given to his latest issue is "Civil Theology, and an opening of heaven; and unlocking of the book of Revelation and of other dark figures by the nature and figurative use of the seven spirits of God, and by a system of figurative communication given for the temporal reign of Christ." It is rather an extensive and high sounding title, and we presume his arguments are of the same "figurative" character. The outline of contents covers 12 pages in the beginning of the book, and the first chapter begins with an "explanation of the nature and plan of salvation from experimental knowledge," referring back to a period in the author's youth when his experiments commenced. We have not time to devote to reading his production.

THE CITY NOMINATIONS.—We have been requested by Mr. Watkins and Mr. Stewart, Union Central Committee of this city, to state that the place of holding the Second Ward meeting will be at the Court House. The meeting will be held punctually at 7 o'clock, in order that none may be excluded from voting on account of the Philharmonic Concert, as many desire to be present on that occasion, who also desire to have a voice in making the nominations.

CHEAP FREIGHT TO OWYHEE.—Freights are now being shipped from Umatilla to Olds' Ferry at four cents per pound, from Olds' Ferry to Owyhee Landing, per steamer, one-half cent per pound; one cent per pound from the Landing to Ruby City; and one-and-a-half cents from Portland to Umatilla, and we find that goods can be laid down from Portland to Ruby City at seven cents per pound. Can Chico beat this?

PAPER SHIRTS.—A firm in Springfield, Mass., has obtained a patent for a shirt made of paper, which they propose to sell up for about twenty-five cents apiece. These shirts will, it is presumable, be gotten up in paper of a different texture from the collars—that is, they will not be sized and calendered, but made of flexible material—otherwise they would be as expensive as crinoline, and have to be worn outside instead of in.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—The first concert of the Philharmonic Society will be given at Oro Fino Hall this evening. We trust our people will attest their appreciation of the efforts of the organization by a large attendance. In fact we know they will do so. A pleasant evening is anticipated.

THE DAY.—From all parts of the country we hear of preparations being made for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and as yet no move has been made in the matter here. It is now high time that something was being done towards celebrating in Portland.

CONCERT AT VANCOUVER.—The 14th Infantry Band give a grand concert and ball at Metropolis Hall in Vancouver to-night. The steamer Fannie Troup will carry all who may wish to attend from Portland. See advertisement.

MASONIC.—The members of Willamette Lodge No. 2, and Harmony Lodge No. 12, are notified to meet at Masonic Hall this (Friday) evening at 7½ o'clock, by order W. M.

FREIGHTS.—Large freights are now under contract from Umatilla to Idaho City, at six and a-half cents per pound. Who will claim that they can ship via Chico at these figures?

BURIAL OF AH YOEY.—The unfortunate Ah Yoey was consigned to the grave yesterday by his fellow beings with their usual pompous and barbaric style.

SMILING.—Spring seems to be smiling in the lap of Summer, and showering her tearful joys freely. Old Sol's rays have thus far been slightly obscured, but this does not at all interfere with securing those beautiful CARD PHOTOGRAPHS, SUN PEARLS, and other Elegant Pictures, at ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 20 First Street.

NOTICE.—C. H. MACK has removed his Dental Office to Washington Street, corner of Front, in Parrish's Block.

The reason why so many die with Consumption is because they neglect to use the proper remedy in season. When the system is first attacked with a cough, oppression of the chest, or seated pains in the breast, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will cause the phlegm to raise, heals the irritated parts and restores the system to health. Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—These Bitters are universally acknowledged to be a sure preventive and cure for Fever and Ague, Flatulence, Heaviness of the Stomach, or any other like affection. Their effect upon the system is most miraculous; they give a healthy tone to the system, relieve all morbid matter, and in fact thoroughly cleanse the system of all impurities. In no case has it been known to fail, but on the contrary, new virtues have been found in its use. To those afflicted with any of the above ills of the body, the "Bitters" are offered as a speedy and certain cure. Try them and form your own opinion.—Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. my29 HODGE, CALEF, & Co., 97, Front St.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Unwritten Verses

In the dead of the night I'd a fancy
 In my mind I had clothed it with words
Sweet words that came without bidding,
 As free as their music to birds

I looked out through the folds of my curtain
 And saw what I often had seen
The earth with her beauty made perfect
 By silence and heavenly sheen

But never before had I felt in
 My soul so perfect a sense
Of the glory that nature presented
 To men for their life's recompense

And I said, when the morning has broken,
 I will sit at my table and write
For the joyance of others the fancy
 I had in the midst of the night

Then I turned like the sluggard and slumbered
 Till the day shone in on my eyes,
But gone were my beautiful fancies
 As the stars had gone out in the skies

And men shall never take pleasure
 In knowing how joyous a time
I had with the muses that midnight
 I wove my thoughts into rhyme H C

The Capital amid "sackcloth and ashes" versus Spring Blossoms

No one can help admiring the beau monde of Washington, it adapts itself with such extravagant earnestness to every observance of society and to such forms of the ritual as are sanctioned thereby. Early last season I gave you an occasional glance of the ton treading with blithesome abandon every walk of fashionable dissipation known to its winter calendar. Only an eye witness could have appreciated the facility with which it subsequently withdrew from this pleasurable vortex, and became suddenly immersed in penitential meditation and the penances prescribed by the church. As I have before asserted, it seems as though all lotterers who make Washington a domicil through the winter months were careless, for the time or the character of the scenes frequented, or the people met. And now, let me add, from a new observation of the caprices of these good folk, that no community in all this broad land of ours, affect with more devotion all the austere rights and lachrymose expressions pertaining to the solemn fasts of the lenten season, than does this transient fabric of our society. Search the world over and nowhere can be found such another set of sticklers in the faith, or a more godly class, prone to thank God that they "are not as other men." It is no paradox, believe me, to say, that a month ago all Washington had its eyes turned becomingly upward, with digits demurely clasped upon its municipal breast and actuated by a resolute determination to scrupulously avoid all the follies not completely within reach For once, only the Cavaliers were scarlet. Mesdames and daughters, robed in "ashes of roses," and other cues of sorrow and contrition known only to the modistes who vend "mourning goods," and have a tint and lustre for each shade of grief, pertaining to things temporal or eternal. No balls, routs, or theatricals Only an occasional drive upon the avenue, a quiet visit to the capitol and a meek observance of the passions of this wayward Congress. Always an appearance at church and resonant responses in the litany. Thus devoutly until Easter. True, the men would continue finding solace in billiards and faro, and hazarding a few hundred upon the political die, but all the grace and soul of society was meantime on its knees in mi-lady's boudoir and yawningly counting the days ere a truce should be declared with Mammon, and Fashion would again strike hands with the allurements of the world, the flesh, and the devil, that obtain exclusively, by all the sanction of etiquette, throughout the remaining three hundred and twenty-five days of the year.

Not so now. Like blossoms of spring, the fair penitents first peeped forth with a commiserating glance for less venerative mankind, and then emerging in the full flush and glory of a fresh attraction and invigorated life. We have had them for a fortnight and more, marvellously beautiful, to be sure, but looking uncommonly like things "of earth, earthy." And queerly enough, with all this angelic influx from the domestic cloisters of repentant womanhood, there has been no time, the whole season through, when scandal has run so madly riot, or soiled so many high born dames with scorn. But the latter are the "stale vanities of this transitory life"—as our lately devotional sisters would have said—which will only bear repetition about the gossiping firesides of their immediate locality; and then only in the mysterious whispers that the dowagers can only assume. Suffice it to say, that it is no uncommon occurrence to note a bit of exaggerated flirtation in the evening, and to hear of its explosion on the following morning, both the transgressor and the wronged appearing somewhat stunned by the expose, and yet anxious withal to afford the conventional mode of redress, and to take the hazard of a just retribution overtaking the proper party with only ten paces between them. If the actors in the scene are members of Congress, the world takes to its heels to see whether either of them have the courage to appear at their desks and face the matter out. Should the parties be merely celebrities of civil or military circles, a few discreet persons are immediately despatched to goad them on to a genteel and bloody settlement of the affair, and if only of the flock of idlers that cumber every nook and corner of society in Washington, the good people whose turn has not yet come have only to lounge about in their own proper orbits to note every convulsion of the miserable and timid victim. Nearly a score of these little escapades have already come to hand,—aye, and to mouth,—until it seemed as if Jones, Smith, or Brown, and the balance, really must challenge, commit suicide, or be divorced, and yet, up to this writing, the "code duello" has not been consulted—the dishonored Benedicts still live, and for aught I hear, the frail partners of their bosoms have not been forced to withdraw from the firm. A few of the old social stand-bys, of the Washington "ton" do not hesitate to characterize the season, thus far, and they never tire of discussing the choice morsels of scandal that pertained to the feasts of other and more reckless days, when affairs of the heart were fraught with all sorts of horrors, and not unfrequently resulted in sending a "hated rival" to a very dubious account before another altar than that of Hymen. However, a more phlegmatic temper prevails now, and I think you may safely conclude that assassination, self-destruction, or even the vulgar resort to a divorce a mensa et thoro, is not for the annals of this Washington season.—Washington Correspondent Boston Traveler.

Westward Ho!—The Eighteenth United States Infantry expect to strike their tents and move for the new route to Virginia City, Montana, to-morrow. Some days ago the third battalion and a large number of recruits for the second battalion reached Kearney from Leavenworth. The third battalion is commanded by Major Lewis, a gentleman of renowned efforts in the military service. The second battalion is commanded by Captain Haymond, and his right hand men are Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Kinney and Captain Ten Eyck, with whose united zeal and fiery ardor Captain Raymond will doubtless easily hew his way through the mountain fastnesses of the red skins to the Big Horn and Yellowstone rivers of Montana. The first battalion, which has been stationed during the past Winter on the Smoky Hill route, is now on route to the Mormon country, and are to be under the command of Colonel Henry E. Maynadier, commanding District of the Platte, head-quarters at Fort Laramie. The second and third battalions will garrison new Ft. Reno, on the eastern slope of Big Horn Mountain, Fort Yellowstone, on Yellowstone river. The recruits, numbering some nine hundred, are decidedly the finest looking set of recruits that our extensive observation has ever noticed. The Eighteenth now numbers nearly two thousand men A noble command and nobly commanded.—Fort Kearny Herald, May 8th.

The Niagara Ship Canal —On the first of May the bill for the construction of a ship canal around the Falls of Niagara, passed the House of Representatives The canal will be constructed by an incorporated company, to whom the Government will loan its credit to the extent of six millions of dollars. The bill provides that the canal shall not be less than one hundred and five feet on the surface, and ninety feet on the bottom, with not less than fourteen feet in depth of water, with locks not less than two hundred and seventy five feet long and forty six feet broad Such a ditch will float through vessels of 1,200 tons burden If the bill passes the Senate this session, work on the canal will be commenced immediately, and it is stipulated that it shall be completed before the opening of navigation in the spring of 1870—four years hence The bill provides that the tolls on the canal shall not exceed those charged on the Welland Canal in the year 1861, which were quite moderate The Chicago Tribune observes It is a safe estimate to say, that the Niagara Ship Canal when completed will so cheapen transportation as to add ten cents per bushel to the value of every bushel of wheat, corn and barley, six cents to every bushel of oats, and a half a cent to every pound of pork, beef, and butter produced in the Northwest The aggregate of those savings would pay for the building of the canal thrice over every year."

Remarkable Suicide—Death, by Self-imposed Starvation, of Sterling King, the Rebel Colonel, Spy and Horse Thief

[From the Cincinnati Commercial May 11th]

Sterling King known throughout the war as a rebel spy and bearer of dispatches with the rank of Colonel, was born in England in 1841 and while yet a boy came with his parents to this country and found a permanent home near Richmond, Virginia He received a very good collegiate education studied law and practiced in Richmond Virginia Upon the inauguration of the rebellion he was among the very first to enlist as a private under Stonewall Jackson Badly wounded in an engagement in the first year, and distinguished for reckless courage he was soon promoted to a colonelcy and detailed to act as a spy under orders from the rebel Executive In this capacity he traveled all through the North, managing, as he brought experience to the aid of natural abilities, to work successfully in procuring passes, passing the lines and procuring information useful to the rebel cause He made trips through all the Northern and Eastern cities, to Cuba Canada and even to Europe He several times had business in this city and on one occasion occupied a small office near the Soldiers' Home on Third street, where, under the guise of a claim agent he occupied himself, during several weeks, in collecting from the inmates of the Home statistics as to the strength and location of all the regiments represented by them He was fully acquainted with the business of the rebel mail service, and was at one time employed in selecting men and routes for that business A couple of years since he was captured here, and imprisoned as a spy. Propositions were made to release him in the event of his giving information that would lead to the arrest of certain rebel agents in this vicinity, but he stubbornly refused, stating that he intended making his escape with his hands and this promise he made good by working his way out one night and passing the guard, despite a bayonet thrust in the thigh.

Having thus given the main point in King's history as a rebel Colonel and spy, we come now to his operations as a horse thief Pretending to the honor and punctilio of a gentleman of the first class of chivalry while in the rebel service, in which he continued until the war closed he nevertheless turned a professional thief upon being again thrown upon his own resources Coming to this city about three months since, he planned and for a time successfully executed thefts of valuable horses and vehicles from three livery stables; Fay's, Bigler's and Herman's. He would make himself familiar with the proprietors—one after the other—hire and return a few times, talk of purchasing a fine horse, and when ready for the theft, hire the most valuable "turn out" of the stable as if to go a few miles out, and then take the whole establishment, horse, buggy and harness, to Bowling Green or Louisville, and sell it.

On the 12th of March last he was recognized as a horse thief in the Louisville Hotel, at Louisville, immediately arrested and placed in jail, to await the necessary requisition from Governor Cox Then it was that he invented the lie as to the assassination of President Lincoln, declaring that he was the assassin, and that John Wilkes Booth had nothing further to do with it than to hold his (King's) horse while he entered the theater, fired the pistol shot, made his escape and remounted His object in telling this story was to induce the authorities to take him to Washington, where he would be liberated, and so escape both charges.

Failing in this, and being reduced to the extreme of despondency and mortification at the position to which he had degraded himself, he resolved to put an end to his wretched existence. At about 11 o'clock one night, when all save him self in the jail were in bed, he cut an artery of the left arm and allowed the blood to gush out unimpeded. The loss of blood produced sickness of the stomach and violent vomiting, which awakened a fellow prisoner who was sleeping in the same cell, This man gave the alarm, and assistance came in time to save the life that the would be-suicide had sought to thus cast off.

But the resolution to die was not to be thus conquered Sterling King was a man of inflexible will. He ceased entirely to eat of anything that would feed the fire of life, which soon began to wane, and then, day by day, grew more and more feeble. In forty days this man tasted but five times of food, and all that he ate in that entire time did not amount to one full dinner for a hungry man. Rapidly his flesh began to disappear, and the bones of limbs that could be easily spanned with the hand grew horribly prominent He ceased to walk or stand; he only reclined, breathed and refused to eat. They told him that the requisition from the Governor of Ohio would reach him at a certain time. He wanted to die—not in the jail of Louisville, but out somewhere where he could breathe a pure air and see nature once more. And so this living skeleton coolly calculated the length of time he had yet to live, and finding that, if he did not eat, he would die too soon, he took some soup, bread and preserves—five times, as already mentioned

Day before yesterday Detective Larry Hazen, of this city, reached his prison, produced the requisition, took King up as though he were a mere child, and conveyed him to the carriage, and thence to a berth on the mail boat. He then endeavored to induce him to eat, and said King, in a voice scarcely audible: "Mr. Hazen, if you will promise me to make such an arrangement as will enable me to compromise this matter by paying for the property, I will commence eating today." Hazen could not promise this, and the dying man shook his head and refused the food He calculated that he had three days to live, which would enable him to reach Cincinnati and settle up his little affairs; but at about two o'clock yesterday morning, a little after the boat reached the landing here, the death rattle sounded in his throat, and the detective found him dead

The jury called by Coroner Carey yesterday rendered a verdict of suicide by starvation We understand that deceased has friends in Bowling Green, (Ky.)

Case of Isham Henderson —A case that excited much interest in all parts of the country during the past week, is that of Isham Henderson, of Louisville Henderson is one of the proprietors of the Louisville Journal, and during the war had a contract for furnishing mules for the army, and, as is alleged, defrauded the Government out of $21,300, by means of forged returns and vouchers. A military court was formed at Nashville for the purpose of trying him, and he gave bonds in $50,000 to appear at trial He was ordered to report for trial Monday of last week, but disregarded the summons On the 23d, General Johnson (Provost Marshal General on the Staff of General Thomas, at Nashville,) telegraphed to General Jefferson C. Davis, at Louisville, commanding the Department of Kentucky, to arrest Henderson and send him to Nashville, either peacefully or forcibly, as circumstances should require In the meantime Gen Johnson received a dispatch from Henderson declaring that he did not recognize the authority of the military court to try him, and would not go to Nashville Another dispatch was then sent to arrest Henderson and send him along without delay Davis responded that Henderson was under arrest, but that writs of habeas corpus had been sued out in his favor, and asked what should be done General Thomas now took the matter in hand and telegraphed to General Davis to disregard all writs of habeas corpus and send Henderson to Nashville at once, and if necessary to arrest the Judge also These instructions General Davis followed to the letter Since then suits have been brought against General Davis and the other officers for their hand in the proceedings, but Henderson is in the hands of the military until his discharge by the act of the President or acquittal by the court martial. As Henderson is one of the proprietors of the Louisville Journal, which is the Kentucky organ of Andrew Johnson, it is not improbable he will be discharged by that officer, although there seems to be no doubt of his guilt

The Menken's Costume —Speaking of the Mazeppa donned by that brilliant, neat-limbed, half nude specimen of the demi monde, Adah Isaacs Menken, the theatrical critic of the New York World thus gracefully takes off the animal

Her spring fashions are simple and expensive—consisting of her flesh tinted tights, an infantile under garment many, many times too small for her majestic form, and—nothing else For Summer wear such a toilette is probably not without its advantages

Smart Woodpecker —A naturalist says —"Last summer, while walking in my park, I observed a green woodpecker alight on the ground some fifty paces before me, look around to see if he was observed, then lie down and simulate death by stretching out himself motionless and hanging his tongue out as far as possible He occasionally pulled in his bill He had selected a place near an ant hill The ants, thinking him dead would cover his tongue to devour him when it was black with ants, he would swallow them, and repeat his trick, until his maw could hold no more."

An Accomplished Linguist —Caleb Cushing, at a recent dinner at the Marquis de Montholon's, addressed the Minister in elegant French, the Spanish Minister in elegant Castilian the representative of Denmark in Danish, of Holland, in Dutch, of Victor Emanuel in Italian, and it was believed that he could have talked Chinese with the representative of the Brother of the Sun and Moon, had there been one present

Gov Hawley on the Situation

The following is an extract from the Inaugural Message of Gov Hawley of Connecticut

[illegible] country is now willing from [illegible] and suffering, claim to [illegible] of war [illegible] over the great good already secured and look gladly to the indications of reviving prosperity and fraternal feeling. Whatever can be done consistently with the result with frank good faith they should meet at the first step with a cordial welcome. Our people want it [illegible] with the more [illegible] in the struggle. We [illegible] great [illegible] that we [illegible] to brethren [illegible] It is not expected that all who were fully engaged in the rebellion will speedily lose their [illegible] that [illegible] it is not desired. And [illegible] great masses of [illegible] involved in treason it is the purpose of the future and not the record of the past that statesmanship will consult. And the heart of the nation [illegible] for the day of full restoration when every State in all its parts shall be performing its natural functions in the great system without external interference or restraint and when all extraordinary powers assumed and wielded to save the national life may be laid away with the idle weapons of war.

But the nation loves liberty and justice above all else. The rebellion was a terrible and infamous crime, rotten and leprous all over with foul conspiracy, perjury and murder and so history and legislation will record and brand it. Though defective laws or false mercy may fail to [illegible] the forfeited life of a single traitor, the country will never consent that any but loyal men shall receive its favor or sit among its rulers.

When States declare themselves out of the Union and bring their citizens with great unanimity to make desperate war during four years upon the Republic, and then, failing, only through lack of physical force declare themselves in the Union truly devoted to its principles and entitled immediately to the exercise and enjoyment of all their rights [illegible] it is to give honor [illegible] to their words but it is the nation's right and duty to examine fully the new organizations of the States, learn the purposes of new rulers thereof, and test the whole by the legislative action they may take, and by the security and happiness enjoyed by the steadfastly and unquestionably loyal among them.

It may be that all these States are not in the hands of majorities determined to be faithful to the Union. It may surely be that when we consider the [illegible] of national sovereignty, something may be needed to fortify the future of the Republic. Upon all this the legislative power of the federal government duly speak [illegible] if it can, but thoughtfully and soundly in any event

The Government Revenue—Important Exhibit —The Hon Freeman Clark, Controller, etc, has prepared the following at the request of a member of Congress

"The actual receipts for the first nine months of the present fiscal year have been as follows Customs coin, $128,907,576, internal revenue $243,800,549, premium on gold, etc, $37,183,309, actual aggregate receipts to April 1st $410,041,212 The same ratio for the remaining three months will make the aggregate for the year $540,000,000, without including the income tax now being assessed and to be collected within the present fiscal year, which added, will swell the amount $560,000,000. The bill lately reported by the Committee of Ways and Means, by reason of the increase of revenue that will be derived from the Southern States from sources additional to those named, will produce at least $550,000,000 notwithstanding the reduction of, say $50,000,000 by the exemption of some articles now taxed, and the reduction of rates on others, and the probable falling off of custom duties. By the annexed estimate, the receipts from customs the present year will amount to $171,000,000 The estimate for the next year is $130,000,000 Without increasing the rates now imposed, with the exception of adding three cents per pound on cotton, the receipts for the next fiscal year will amount to or exceed

From customs..	$140,000,000
From tobacco	16,000,000
From whisky, wine and beer	35,000,000
From cotton	50,000,000
From licenses	20,000,000
From stamps	25,000,000
From miscellaneous sources	15,000,000
Total	$333,000,000

There will be a surplus on hand on the 30th of June, the close of the present fiscal year of $20,000,000

Available for the year ending June 29, 1867, $533,000,000. Deduct requirement for the year, per the estimate of Secretary of the Treasury, $284,000,000, leaving a surplus over estimate of $249,000,000.

The above does not materially vary in the aggregate from the revised estimate of revenue from the sources named, made by the Revenue Commissioners. The amount is $40,000,000 more than is required, without reference to the surplus on hand on the 30th of June next, to meet all the requirements of the Government for the fiscal year ending the 30th of June, 1867. There is no necessity, therefore, for taxing any other articles, or imposing any other tax whatever, for Government purposes

IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time
